P. 6. See now Mr. K. B. Pâṭhak's paper on Kumârila and Bhartṛihari in the Journ. Bombay Br. Roy. As. Soc., which together with another essay<sup>1</sup> on the references of Kumârila to the Jaina authors and of the Jainas to the Tantra-vârttika clearly proves that the great Mimâmsaka flourished in the first half of the eighth century or just about the time to which he was assigned conjecturally.
